The Tale of the Golden Butterfly

Once upon a time, there was a golden butterfly that flew all around the world and visited many beautiful places.

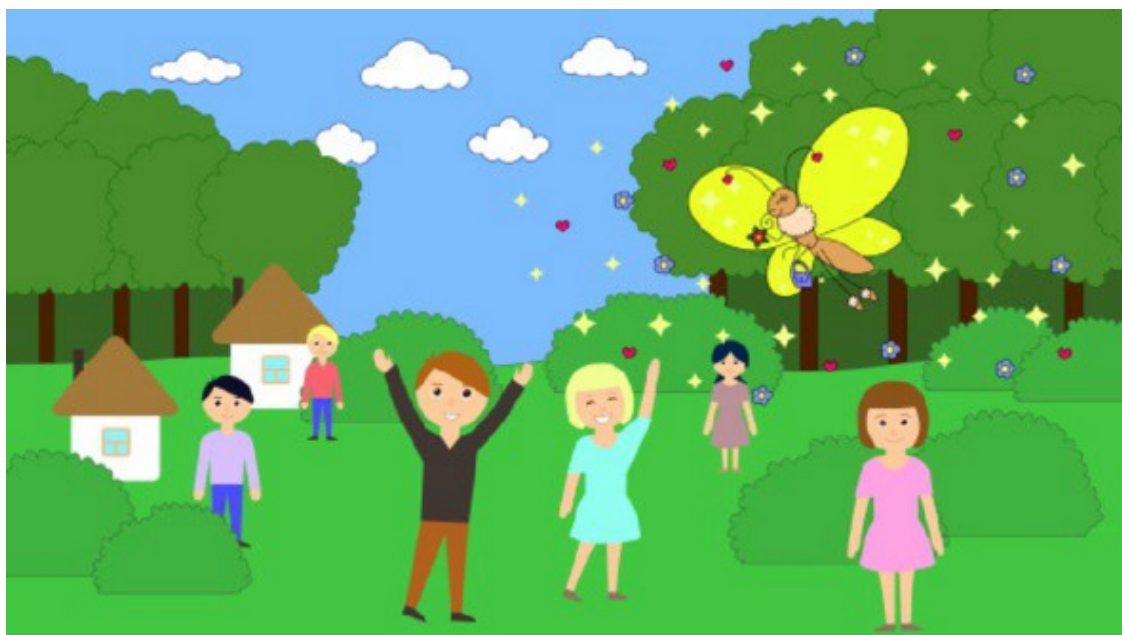

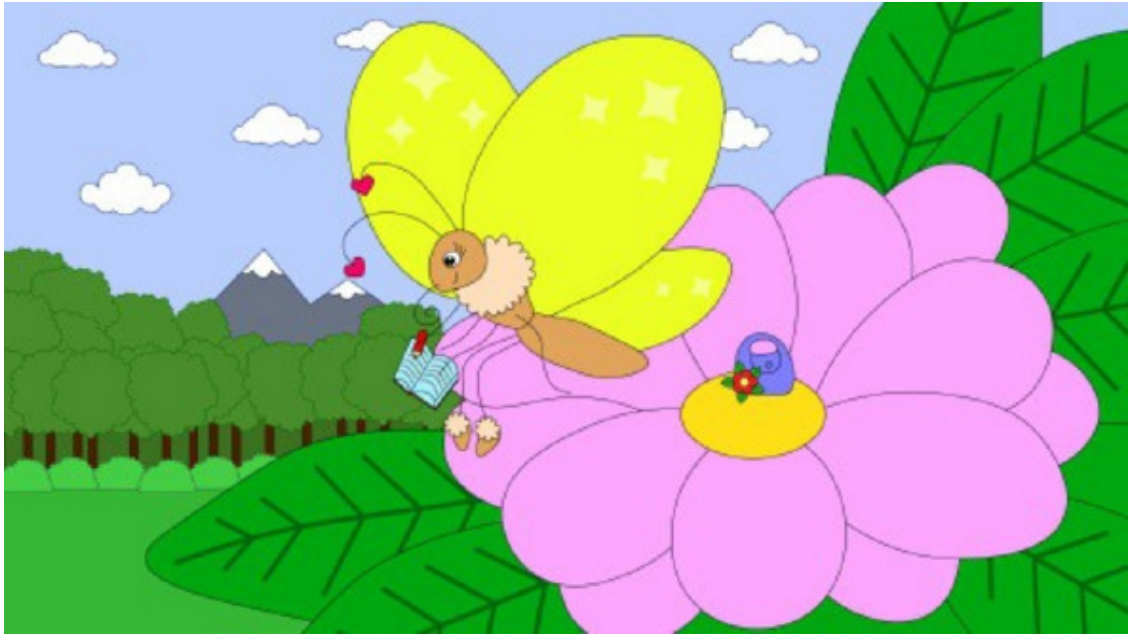

She visited the most distant and unexplored places, flew across the skies, and visited friends and acquaintances.

She collected ideas and thoughts from around the world and brought them back to her country. She brought joy and light to people, which helped them see things in a new way.

The golden butterfly kept flying around the world, visiting many beautiful places and bringing joy to people. Every time she visited a place, people were delighted and happy.

She brought them inspiration and hope for a better future. She also helped people understand that even in the most difficult times, it's possible to be happy and kind.

Eventually, the golden butterfly flew home and brought all those thoughts and ideas with her. She shared them in her country and helped people understand that it's possible to be happy even in hard times.
